

ABSTRACT

A screw is disclosed which has a shank having a screw thread. A drill section is formed on the shank and extends from the tip of the shank to an intermediate position. The screw thread extends all of the way to the tip. The drill section includes a flute forming a flute edge which intersects the screw thread to form at least one thread tapping edge.